each week for the best short, humorous story, Competitors should be careful to write their full name and address legibly on top, and to write on one side only. Stories into note that at last a genuine interest appears to be taken in this competition. Although little originality has as yet been displayed, still there is a marked imrovement in the manner in which tho storyettes are presented, which would seem to indicate that a more intelligent and literary class of competitors are en-tering, and it is clear that their sense of humour is being more highly developed. We are glad to note that a number of the citizens are taking part in the competition, to one of whom we have pleasure in awarding our prize this week :-

The advent of the late Dr. Kirwan to the partial partial, who had the foundation of the present stricture laid in the year 1829, and the increase in our elected, will be provided, viz.: rentilation of the may be means of the concealed type of the increasent and adangerous state, necessate the interest of the present to the present substitution by the introduction of an open timbered roof, wherein a long-time state the increasent and dangerous state, necessate the introduction by the introduction of an open timbered roof, wherein a long-time state the partial in the present in our electric substitution by the introduction of an open timbered roof, wherein a long-time state the partial pa the incessont and ordnous labours of a roof ventilator. These two factors constriking personality. To creek a house of worship in a poverty-stricken Connemara district was the work the late zealous Dr Kirwan laid down for himself. To look amongst his own almost destitute fock for funds was to court failure. He had perforce to expand the sphere of his newal of the present floors throughout, labours not only to the British Isles, but which are fast decaying under the effects of which are fast decaying under the effects of which are fast decaying under the effects labours not only to the British Isles, but which are fast decaying under the effects to the Continent, where we are told be of rain water permeating the foundations preached and lectured incussantly while in the absonce of external drainage; the sufficient funds had been exceived to varrant the laying of the foundation and the battery into an organ and choir battery, completion of the Church, wherein lie the and many other alterations which at pre remains of its founder. The great work sent cannot be foreseen. The contemin which the good priest was engaged, plated extensions, to meet the necessary and the cornestness with which he labour and sufficient accommodation, require the and the cornextness with which he laboured, naturally excited not alone the admiration of the present eastern tower, attended the sympathy of Catholics throughtent the country, from whom the received the greatest support. The Church was completed in 1835, and, as will be seen by the illustration, it is modeled after primitive type of primary Prench Gothic. Built over three quarters of a century ago, the ravages of time have left their devastating angles of time have left their devastating angles on the structure, the roof of which is now in imminent danger of toppling down, and the building generally is sadly time as the primary and furthermal are down, and the building generally is sadly in seed of repair. With the increased population of Oughterard, too, the little Church is capable of accommodating confortably only half the number of worshippers. The appeal, which we publish in another column, has been issued with experience in ecclesiastical are recture.
